

Understanding and treating medically unexplained symptoms and health anxiety

Theo K. Bouman and Sako Visser

Many therapists encounter patients who suffer from medically unexplained symptoms and excessive worry and anxiety about their health. They are often difficult to motivate for a psychological approach. This workshop is designed to provide a deeper understanding of the nature and the mechanisms of these conditions. In particular we offer the clinician specific guidelines and techniques regarding assessment, patient engagement, and actual treatment interventions.