

Treating GAD and Chronic Worry with Metacognitive Therapy

Adrian Wells, PhD, The University of Manchester, UK

GAD has been viewed as the “basic” anxiety disorder, and worry is a feature of many different mental health problems. In this workshop participants will learn how to conceptualize and treat GAD and help patients overcome uncontrollable worrying.